How the plan works inside the U.S.

In-network — visit any doctor, no referrals needed.

Network providers contract with Aetna to offer rates that are often lower than their regular fees.

Choosing a network provider may save your employees money.

Their network doctor works directly with Aetna to get approval for their care and files claims for them.

They may pay a portion of the charges in the form of a copay or coinsurance.

Out-of-network — visit any licensed doctor, no referrals needed.

Out-of-network doctors and hospitals don't contract with Aetna, so this option may cost your employees more. They'll often have to:

- Get approval from Aetna before receiving certain services
- Pay the full amount up front
- File their own claims

How the plan works outside the U.S.

Aetna recommends your employees visit providers, hospitals or clinics in their global, direct-pay network. No referrals are needed.

Outside the U.S., covered benefits are paid at 100% with no member cost share.

Direct pay means a better health care experience. It lets your employees take advantage of:

- Lower rates
- No or low out-of-pocket costs at the time of service
- Doctors who bill Aetna directly for your employees' care so they don't have to file claims
- Easier admissions for inpatient care
- Guarantee of Payment (GOP) documents sent directly to the treatment facility

If your employees choose to see a provider outside of Aetna's direct-pay network, they can pay at time of service and submit a claim for reimbursement.
